

The man with money gets his money for his crop and then he puts it where it is safe—in the Bank.

It takes Cents to make dollars. It takes sense to keep dollars.

This man knew enough to put seed into the ground and it grew into a crop. Now he knows enough to put dollars in the bank and grow a fortune. He knows if he plants grain it grows; if he plants dollars they grow. But dollars don't fear weather conditions.

POULTRY

CHICKENS RUNNING AT LARGE

Unlimited Range Is Nuisance When Fowls Are Given Privilege of Stables, Sheds, Etc.

Unlimited range has its advantages, but if unlimited range means that the fowls have the privileges of the stables, wagon sheds and roosting on the wheels and machinery, then the unlimited range is a nuisance. To give poultry plenty of room does not imply that the fowls should go where they please. A hen has no place in a stable any more than a cow has the right in a poultry house. Little by little the droppings accumulate during the season until everything is too filthy to handle, and the work of cleaning will be more than the real value of the fowls. Keep poultry away from other stock.

GUINEAS AS SUMMER LAYERS

Egg Is About Two-Thirds as Large as That of Chicken—Has Decidedly Better Flavor.

There are two different breeds of guineas, the white and the pearl. Both breeds are excellent summer layers, and the eggs are of superior quality. The guinea egg is about two-thirds as large as the hen egg, and has a decidedly better flavor. The guinea hen begins to lay as soon as the weather gets warm in the spring. If they are well fed during the winter they will begin to lay earlier than if they are only half fed through the winter.

If there are as many male birds in the flock as there are hens they will mate off in pairs, but if only a few male birds are kept several hens will mate with one male and all or nearly all of them will lay in the same nest. Most guinea raisers recommend keeping one male bird for every five hens; we kept only two male birds with 20 hens last year and the eggs hatched as well as they did when we kept more males. The fewer male birds that are kept in the flock, the less quarrelsome they are.

HEN IS THE BIGGEST EATER

Fowl Turns Out More Food, According to Weight, Than Best Dairy Cow—Marvel of Efficiency.

The hen is the biggest eater of all domestic animals. A three and one-half pound hen, according to Doctor Rice of Cornell, will eat 110 pounds of food in a year. She will lay 30 pounds of eggs, or perhaps more. Eggs are highly concentrated food, and the hen that transforms a hundred pounds of bran, grass, grain and gravel, and other scraps into one-third their weight of fresh eggs, is a marvel of efficiency. The hen therefore turns out more food, according to her weight, than the best dairy cow.

TO BREAK HENS FROM SITTING

Wait Until She Gets Well Settled Then Place Her in Open Coop—Soon Forgets Desire.

To break a hen from sitting let her sit a day or two until she gets well settled, then put her, preferably with two or more other hens, into an open coop in full view of the poultry yard, where she can see her free sisters scratching around enjoying themselves. Hens are jealous creatures and a sitting hen placed in such a position and well fed, soon forgets her desire to sit, and when given her freedom on the morning of the fourth or fifth day she will happily resume the duties of hen life.

Rich Widow Loses.

Margaret Ryan, a Canadian working girl, at Chicago, was declared by Judge K. M. Landis, of the United States District Court, to be the mother of a year-old child that had also been claimed by Mrs. Annie Dollie Ledgerwood Matters, and a dispute which caused a half dozen lawsuits was settled. Mrs. Matters, now the widow of a banker, claimed to have given birth to a posthumous child at a hospital in Ottawa. The hospital attendants at first supported her claim, but later repudiated their testimony and declared Margaret Ryan to be its mother, asserting the baby was taken from her and given to the Chicago widow.
